NEARLY SIX HUNDRED

Families Found in Shawnee County Who Had No Bibles.
The canvass of the county bible society to supply the destitute, recently completed, required 330 days time, at an expense of $300 in excess of all receipts for this purpose. Nearly every house in the county was reached, and 7,775 families were conversed with. The record of those not found at home was not kept, but the average would be about one in ten.

It hardly seems possible that 599 families were found without a copy of the bible or any part of it, yet such is the fact. Of these 480 were supplied, 348 books being actually donated.

It was not practical to supply some foreigners and others.
Aside from the above gifts 572 volumes were sold to others for themselves or for children, or others, adding this much more to the circulation of the scriptures. The society's stock has been reduced by the amount of the excess above referred to, and the gifts of the churches and of individuals are asked to be forwarded as rapidly as made, that the work of supplying bibles at cost may be maintained.

OH, SPARE THE TREES.

The Chopping Down of Shade Trees Gone Far Enough.

IT OUGHT TO BE POSSIBLE

For Sidewalks and Trees to Get Along Peaceably Together—The "Getting Down to Grade" Nuisance.

The street commissioner's force still has the grading to do for 400 lots before which new sidewalks will be laid. This will require about three weeks time and before it is completed no one can tell how many beautiful shade trees will be destroyed in order to "get down to grade."

The wholesale destruction of shade trees by the street force meets with a protest from every one who is interested in the beauty of Topeka. Nearly all the trees which are cut down seem to be destroyed in a wild desire of some one to have the sidewalks put on grade.

Take an instance: A man came to Topeka 25 years ago. He bought a place for his home and proceeded to beautify it with the pride that anyone feels in a place he can call "home." He planted shade trees in the parking in front of his house which not only added to the beauty of his home but as they grew afforded a shade for passing pedestrians.

But on an evil day a man known as the city engineer came around. He placed his transit at one end of the block and gazed through it for a long time and then announced that the sidewalk was four feet above grade. The deadly unpromising city ordinance comes in which says all sidewalks must be laid "on grade."

The owner of the trees protested but that made no difference and the axes of the street force soon brought down the shade trees in the park and the men graded down all the parks and walks. There was a broad expanse of flat dirt, but the work of twenty-five years was destroyed.

This is what has happened in many parts of Topeka this summer. There is now a case on Tyler street where the trees were destroyed and the park put to grade ten years ago. The owner planted more trees and now he has found that he is several feet above grade once more and his park must come down and the ten-year-old trees will come with it. It is enough to discourage all future tree planting in that neighborhood.

Mr. Kingman said just before he resigned that the trees are spared when it is possible and if no one in a block objects the walks may be left above grade, but when anyone does object then the provisions of the ordinance must be carried out.

to grade thousands of trees must perish. Spare the trees even if the sidewalks do have to be sloped at each street corner.

BARTON'S CASE CONTINUED

Whitaker Wasn't Ready to Prove His Statements—Other Cases.

A. Barton's case came up in the police court this morning. Barton is the city sanitary officer who took a man up to the office of commissioner of elections yesterday to see that he was properly registered and whom Frank Whitaker, the deputy had arrested for disturbing the peace. Barton was all ready for trial this morning and was ably defended by Lawyers Joe Reed, Charley Gault, et al, but Mr. Whitaker had been down earlier in the morning and said he was not quite ready for trial and would like to have the case continued a few days. This request was announced by the court when the case was called.

"He's as ready now as he ever will be," suggested Mr. Reed, "we've got all the witnesses there are."

"That makes no difference," observed the court, "the man has a right to a continuance and the case is postponed till Monday morning," and postponed it was. George Bradley runs an auction store on Kansas avenue next door to Louis Fisher, who runs a store also but not an auction store. All day long at intervals Mr. Bradley exercises his good right arm and his neighbors by ringing a bell very loudly with the view, of course, of attracting trade. This jars uncomfortably on Louis's ears and he has complained about it formally to the police. The case came up in court this morning and the judge's brow was wrinkled. The supreme court has decided that if the Salvation Army wants to make a noise on the street it has a perfect right to do so and this was no more a nuisance than that. No special ordinance relating to this matter of belfringing could be found on such short notice, although City Attorney Tillotson had said there is one, so the case was continued till tomorrow to allow Mr. Tillotson to find the ordinance for Mr. Hingst. Meanwhile Mr. Bradley will be permitted to ring his bell inside his house.

R. E. McGuire had been discovered sleeping in the Rock Island depot and the police had taken charge of him. He pleaded guilty this morning and the judge discharged him.

Ben McDonald was also a Rock Island victim. He had been caught in the act of stealing coal from a stock car and was wise enough to plead guilty this morning. He was fined $5 which he is serving time for.

DISGRACED HIMSELF.

One of the "Younger Crowd" Degenerating Into a "Bum."

A member of the younger crowd of society young men has shucked his associates by getting into police court. The charge placed against his name is that of "drunk and disturbing the peace."

Last night there was a party, a respectable party, and this young man was going. He had his "company" engaged, and felt so good over the prospect of a nice little time that he began to flirt early in the evening with the demon drink. The demon drink is older at the flirting business than the young man is, and was more than his match. When he appeared at the party his cheeks were flushed and his eyes were uncertain. His step was clumsy and his tongue was too large to handle easily. He left the party early with his young lady, but returned and seemed to be a little worse off than when he left. Some of his male friends succeeded in getting him to leave the hall, but he must have got noisy on the street, for his name was on the police court docket this morning. He had been allowed to go on his own recognizance and failed to get around at the appointed time. His case was continued till tomorrow.

WINDERMERE FAN ROW.

"Lord Darlington" Founds Manager Jenkins to the Neck.

There has been a big row in the Frohman company that played "Lady Windermere's Fan" in Topeka. A St. Louis dispatch says: "When the Frohman company opened here tonight in 'Lady Windermere's Fan,' Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emory were not with the company. They were in the city, however, and it was that fact that caused Stage Manager Jenkins to call upon the police. He sought protection from assault by one or both of the discharged artists. For Mr. and Mrs. Emory had been dismissed and it came about in this way."

There has been some friction between the man and wife and the management for some time. At Joplin Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Emory refused to go on because they were dissatisfied with the dressing rooms provided for them. Mr. Jenkins at once dismissed them, giving them transportation to St. Louis. "But Mr. Emory did not come at once to St. Louis. Instead he appeared on the depot platform at Lamar very early Saturday morning, when the company was waiting for a train, and hit Mr. Jenkins in the back of the neck, necessarily ward Emory was in the darkness. "Mr. and Mrs. Emory left for the east at 8 o'clock tonight."

Emory was the actor who played Lord Darlington.
